It must be fine to be an ex-president. Taft was permitted to walk back and forth in the Concord, N. H., railroad station for 10 minutes without being recognized by a bunch of celebrity seekers.

Now that Turkey has consented to admit that one of her submarines sank the Russian hospital ship Portugal, perhaps Turkey can be induced to admit that she also attacked the cross-channel steamer Sussex.

It is officially denied that an attempt is to be made to divert the Connecticut river into the Deerfield river, beginning the project at Brattleboro. The people of New Hampshire will no doubt hear the denial with a feeling of relief that Vermont does not propose to end the Connecticut river boundary dispute in that summary manner.

It didn't make any difference to the Mexicans in Parral whether the supply-purchasing contingent of American soldiers were armed or not; the visitors were Americans and that was reason enough why they should be murdered. Therefore, the attack. It is too much to expect the Mexicans to make distinction between an army armed to the teeth and a small contingent of men going out to do some trading.

The German official report of Saturday gave out the information that French troops in considerable number made counter-attacks in the vicinity of Dead Man's hill but that the attacks failed of their purpose. This is the first intimation in 10 days that the French have done anything more than to attempt to stay the progress of the hosts of helmeted men who have been hurled into the maelstrom before Verdun, and it is probably an augury of something of vast importance that is in store when the French begin to use their reserve men and munitions while the Germans were spending theirs recklessly.

The people of Barre will, perhaps, not need to be warned that they will have an opportunity at the city hall to-morrow (April 18) to register protest against the granting of licenses to sell intoxicating liquors to particular individuals or at particular locations; and if there are any objections they must be presented at this time. It should be stated, too, that no objection should be registered unless it is backed up by some phase of the state liquor law, for protests which are not sustained by grounds as contained in that law are not likely to receive serious consideration. So, if there are to be objections, let the objections be well based.

A marked degree of perspicacity is indicated by the following statement: "Under no condition would I consent to run for the presidency." The words were uttered by the most renowned automobile manufacturer in the world, and they were uttered, too, in the face of the fact that that manufacturer had just been endorsed for the presidency by his own state, Michigan, in preference to a member of the United States Senate from the same state. This man confesses that he is not a politician but a plain citizen intent on piling up the millions as the wheels of his little automobiles go round and round and round. He is right; he has found his niche in the world and any deviation therefrom is likely to result in unfortunate results to himself. We have seen the truth of the latter suggestion in a recent incident in the history of the present European war. Therefore, it is good sense for Henry Ford to return to his factory and make himself extremely useful there.

The latest declaration of independence has been made by women; and they propose to be separated from their skirts. It was the American Women's League for Self-Defense of New York City which has taken formal action looking to independence, the organization having decided by overwhelming majority to wear trousers when their men folks go off to war and they (the women) will be called upon to defend their homes. These women, numbering about 200, have been holding drills once a week throughout the winter in preparation for the home guards duty which they expect will devolve upon them at some unexpected moment, and they have become so enamored with man's duty along military lines that they want to adopt his uniform. So New York may not be surprised to see a small army of women, trouser clad, go marching down the street to the tune of some martial air. They should be looked upon with a certain indulgence, for they probably haven't any occupation and are restless.

THE STORY FROM MEXICO.

The report, coming from Mexican sources, that Francisco Villa is dead leads to conflicting opinions among American people who have been led to suspect about anything which comes from the people of that country who are now engaged in making trouble for the United States. It must be admitted that the report comes as a natural enough sequence to the stories which have been scattered broadcast for two weeks, to the effect that the bandit leader was severely injured in a clash with Carranza troops at Guernica just prior to the clash of Colonel Dodd's American troops with bandits at the same place, such early reports having it that Villa was being carried away from the pursuit by a few of his faithful supporters. Those early reports were received with a great deal of skepticism by those far removed from the scene of the trouble and with much doubt among the Americans on the international boundary. Moreover, the skepticism and the doubt grew as the number of days increased following the Guerrero battle. Now, with startling suddenness, comes the announcement that Villa is dead and that his body is being borne to Chihuahua. It is too early to place complete reliance on the report and it will continue to be too early until responsible American authorities have had a chance to verify the report absolutely. The Mexicans are not above resort to duplicity trickery to get the American troops out of their territory. Duplicity is a part of their stock in trade, so to speak.

Who Gets Your Money?

You pay the landlord, the grocer and the butcher, but what do you pay yourself? What are you getting out of your earnings?

Next salary day, pay a dollar or two to yourself and make your start towards independence.

Why don't you try it? Start now—at this bank.

MONTPELIER

Death of Mrs. Rachael Richardson Occurred Saturday Night.

Funeral services for Mrs. Rachael (Pratt) Richardson, who died at her home at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the church in this village. Mrs. Richardson, who was the wife of Gilman Richardson, who passed away six years ago, was 81 years of age and leaves five sons and two daughters, William, Walter, Utha, Levi and Dean Richardson, the first four residing in Craftsbury and Pearl and Eva Richardson, also of Craftsbury. Two nieces, Mrs. Eugene Buck and Mrs. Arthur Clark, and two nephews, Frank Pratt and Milo Pratt, all of this city, also survive.

A baseball schedule consisting of seventeen games has been arranged by the Montpelier seminary management. The initial contest to occur next Saturday afternoon at Barre with Spaulding high school. In spite of the backward spring, Coach S. A. Dole has had a squad of candidates going through their paces on the campus for nearly two weeks. Twenty-six men came out for the first practice, the largest number to report in a number of years and Coach Dole has been aided in his training of the team by having two full nines. Holway, a portender, who gained his early experience at Thetford academy, has shown up well in practice and will probably be the first string catcher. The other positions look to be well taken care of if a capable third baseman can be located. The schedule follows:

April 22—Spaulding high at Barre.
 April 29—Randolph high at Montpelier.
 May 2—Burlington high at Burlington.
 May 6—Williamstown high at Williamstown, and Chelsea high at Chelsea.
 May 8—Johnson high at Montpelier.
 May 10—St. Johnsbury academy at St. Johnsbury.
 May 13—Randolph Aggies at Montpelier.
 May 17—Spaulding at Montpelier.
 May 20—Randolph Aggies and Randolph high at Randolph.
 May 23—People's academy at Morrisville.
 May 26—St. Johnsbury at Montpelier.
 May 30—Montpelier high.
 June 3—People's academy at Montpelier.
 June 6—Montpelier high.
 June 7—Alumni.
